

The 2009 China International Cotton Conference

The 2009' China international Cotton Conference was held in Nanjing Jiangsu province on June 11-12. The Conference is organized by the China Cotton Association (CCA), the Research Center for Rural Economy (RCRE) of the Ministry of Agriculture (MOA) and China National Cotton Exchange (CNCE).

The conference is held every two years, and latest was the sixth session.

The theme of this conference was meeting the financial crisis and pursuing sustainable development for the Chinese and global cotton industries.

International experts and industrial leaders were invited to present speeches, alongside representatives from Chinese governmental agencies. Research Organizations and trading enterprises. They discussed in depth how to meet the challenge of the current financial crisis, how to cooperate for mutual benefit, and best promote sustainable development in the global cotton industry.

Along with Chinese government's stimulus plan on domestic consumption and the activity of United Nations, Year of Natural Fiber, there was special cotton promotion event, during the conference to enhance the recognition of cotton fiber and consumption of cotton product.